Introduction

It is not easy to know how to start learning new words in a language that is not your native one. Most second-language learners depend on a favorite dictionary to get a quick translation of an unknown word; however, dictionaries are full of words that you may never need to use, or even to understand. How do you know which words to learn first?

One of the purposes of this book is to acquaint you with the English words that are most frequently used in the United States today—the words that people use every day with their family, friends, coworkers, and other people in the community in general. Presented here is a basic vocabulary of more than fifteen hundred words that have been carefully chosen because of their frequent appearance and usefulness in daily life. Once you have learned these words and mastered the structures in which they are used, you will be well equipped to add new words to this list, and you'll gradually continue to increase your working vocabulary.

The words of a language can be divided into two groups: content words and function words. Content words in English are either nouns—words that name people, places, things, or abstracts; adjectives—words that describe nouns; verbs—words that describe the actions of nouns; or adverbs—words that describe how an action is performed. Function words are those that form a structure that enables us to put the content words together to make sense. English function words include, for example, words such as a, the, of, for, and and—words that would be difficult to draw a picture of or to define in a word or two. Both types of words are extremely important for communication in any language.

The second purpose of this book is to provide practice in using content words within the framework of the function words that go with them. By practicing these two types of words together you will be not only learning new vocabulary but also using it correctly, enabling you to form meaningful sentences with a variety of individual words.

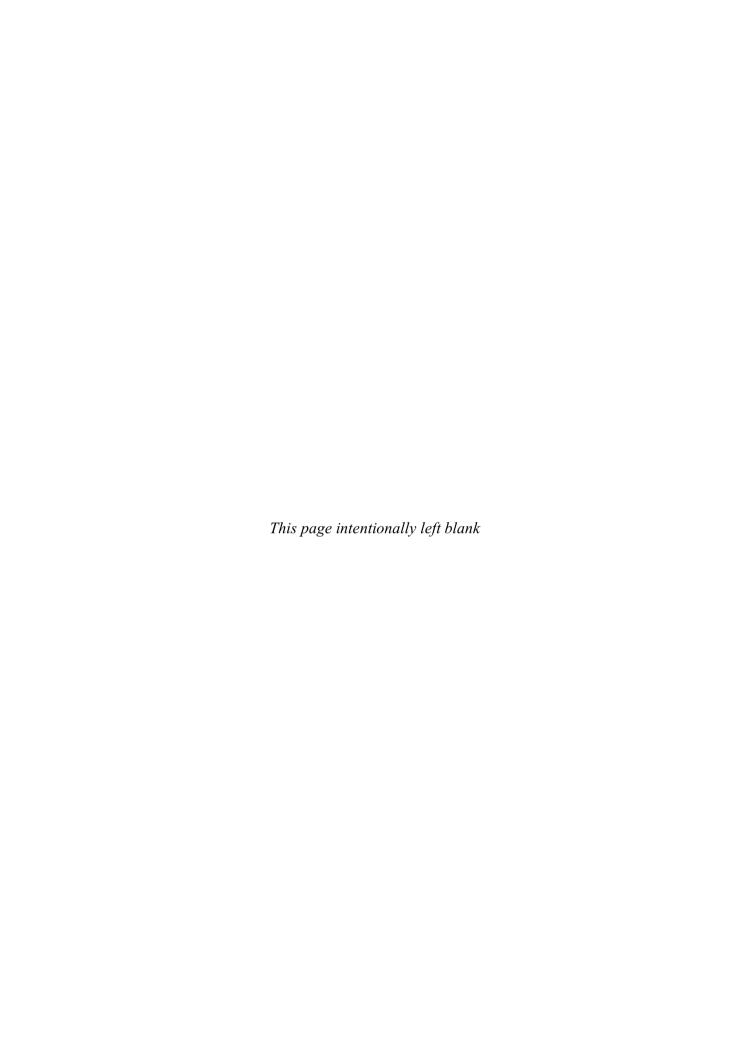

There are four sections in the book: Part I: Nouns, Part II: Adjectives, Part III: Verbs, and Part IV: Adverbs. Each of these parts contains a number of units, and each unit consists of special vocabulary for a certain topic and extensive exercises to practice it.

How to Use This Book

The best way to learn new vocabulary is to use it, both in speech and in writing. The exercises in this book are designed to give you that practice by encouraging you to write down exactly what you would say in the context provided. The repetition of words and structures in various types of exercises will help you remember the words and make them yours to use in real situations.

Following are suggestions to help you get the most out of this book:

- 1. Get a good dictionary, either bilingual or English only, to use as suggested below.
- 2. Copy on a separate sheet of paper the lists of words presented in each unit.
- 3. You will already know some of the words. Write a check by each one if you are certain of its meaning.
- 4. Look up in your dictionary the words that you do not know or are not sure of, and write a word in your language or a definition in English next to it on your paper.
- 5. Do the written exercises for the entire unit.
- 6. In the exercises that ask you to write personal sentences, try to use words that are new to you. Of course, if the new words do not fit, use words that you already know.
- 7. Compare your answers with those in the Answer Key at the back of the book. For the exercises that require personal answers, you may wish to ask a native speaker friend to read your answers to see if they are correct.
- 8. Go back to your original list, cover up the translations or definitions that you first wrote, and see if you now know all the new words.
- 9. Try writing more sentences, using the same patterns used in the exercises, to further practice the words that you haven't completely mastered so far.
- 10. Keep practicing!

PART I

NOUNS

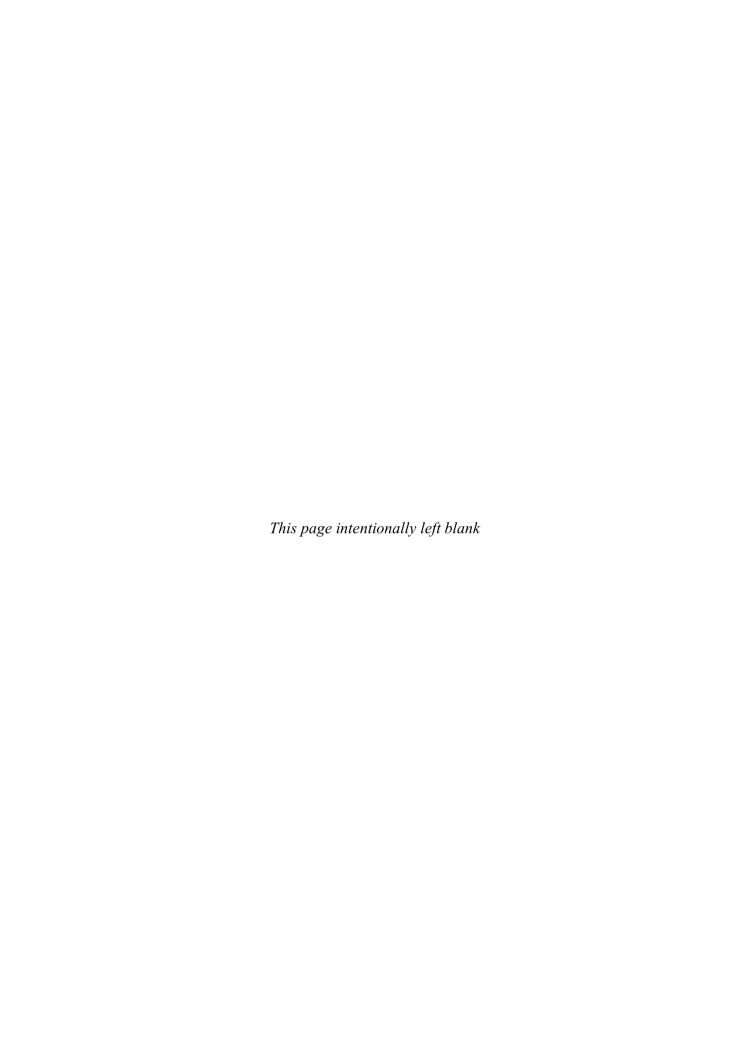

Nouns are the words we use to name all the things we know about, have, see, hear, taste, smell, or feel. This includes words for people, such as man, teacher, and friend. It includes words for places, such as city, kitchen, and street. It includes words for things, such as ball, tree, and computer. And it includes words for things we know exist but can't touch, such as idea, air, pollution, and strength.

Many nouns can be counted—one friend, two friends, for example. These nouns have plural forms, which in English usually means they have an -s added to the end, according to certain set spelling and pronunciation patterns. A few nouns have "irregular" plurals—instead of ending in -s, they have forms that have survived from earlier forms of English or were adapted from other languages. Examples of these include women, men, children, media, and phenomena.

Other nouns cannot be counted—air, wind, and pollution, for example. They have no plural forms, are used with singular verbs, and are called "noncount" nouns. But noncount nouns can also be things that we can count! First, there are those that it would take a lifetime to count, so we call them by a more general noncount noun, such as hair, sugar, or flour. And then there are those that we categorize in general groups that are named by noncount nouns, such as furniture, mail, silverware, and china. Of course we can count chairs, tables, or beds, but the general category furniture is never made plural. The noncount noun mail includes the letters and cards that we can count. English has a lot of these words.

One thing that singular, plural, and noncount nouns have in common is that they can all, in certain situations, be preceded by the article the. The before a noun indicates that both the speaker and the hearer know exactly which one of the nouns is being referred to. "The groceries are in the car," for example, informs the hearer that "the groceries that we just bought" are in "the car that we have."

When you know the patterns for using nouns, you can add new ones to your vocabulary every day and know you are using them correctly. Have fun with nouns!

Unit 2

Singular, Plural, and Noncount Nouns

Using Singular Nouns

English nouns can be divided into two categories: count nouns and noncount nouns.

A count noun is singular when there is one of the person, place, or thing it names.

When a noun is singular, use a or an before it. Use a if it begins with a consonant sound; use an if it begins with a vowel sound.

2-1

Write a or an before each of the following singular nouns.

1. _____ brother 9. _____ reporter 2. ____ aunt 10. _____ stewardess 3. _____ artist 11. _____ sister 4. _____ employer 12. _____ uncle 5. _____ janitor 13. _____ dentist 14. _____ driver 6. _____ professor 7. _____ patient 15. _____ actor 8. _____ engineer 16. _____ adviser

17	accountant	29 bus stop
18	technician	30 basement
19	architect	31 elbow
20	actress	32 arm
21	cheek	33 ankle
22	chest	34 nose
23	leg	35 eye
24	ear	36 library
25	mouth	37 house
26	area	38 ocean
27	apartment	39 airport
28	river	40 attic
	Use a or an before a singular noun to answer	the question "What ?"

What do you do? What is it?

I'm a secretary. I'm an actor. It's a banana.

It's an apple.

What do you want?

I want a house.

I want an apartment.

Use the number one before a singular noun to answer the question "How many . . . ?"

How many cars do you have?

We have one car.

How many English classes are there?

There is one class.

Use "There is . . . "before a singular noun to indicate that it exists.

There is an accountant in my family.

There is a library on the corner.

There is only one bus stop on this street.

exercise 2-2

Look at page 13 of this book and answer the following questions. Be careful in your choice of a, an, or one before each singular noun.

- 1. What do you have in your hands?
- 2. What is there at the very end of this book?
- 3. In the word Contents, what is there between the first n and the e?
- 4. How many e's are there in the word Contents?

Words for Groups of People

Some singular nouns name groups of people who have the same interest. These are called collective nouns. Use a collective noun with a singular verb form. Observe the following examples:

band company
choir family
chorus government
class orchestra
committee team

exercise 2-3

Fill in each blank with a word from the previous list. Be sure to include a or an in each blank before the noun.

- 1. A group of people who take a course together is ______.
- 2. A group of people who play musical instruments together can be _____or ____.

- 3. A group of people who form a business is ______.
- 4. People who are related by blood are ______.
- 5. A group of people who play together to win a game or sport is ______.
- 6. A group of people who control public policy in a country is ______

Using Plural Nouns

A count noun is plural when there is more than one of the person, place, or thing it names. To make a singular noun plural:

• Add -s:

one tree three trees one word four words one sister two sisters

• Add -es to a few words that end in -o:

one echo two echoes
one mosquito three mosquitoes
one tomato four tomatoes
one hero four heroes
one potato two potatoes
one tornado two tornadoes

• Add -es to nouns that end in -ch, -sh, -ss, and -x:

one beach two beaches
one dish four dishes
one dress two dresses
one fax three faxes

• Add -ies to nouns that end in a consonant followed by -y, after dropping the -y:

one city two cities
one country four countries
one family two families
one puppy six puppies

• Add -ves to nouns that end in -f or -fe, after dropping the -f or -fe:

one calf two calves
one half two halves
one leaf three leaves
one knife five knives

• Use an irregular form for certain nouns:

one child two children
one man four men
one person three people
one tooth four teeth
one mouse three mice
one woman three women
one foot two feet

• Use the singular form for the plural for certain nouns:

one deer three deer one sheep four sheep one fish two fish

exercise

2-4

Write the plural form of each of the following nouns.

1.	brother
2.	daughter wife baby child man woman teenager artist
	customer
11.	student
12.	actress
13.	boss
14.	nurse
15.	eye
16.	ear
17.	toe
18.	church
19.	city

24.	glass

25.	knife
26.	fork
27.	stove
28.	facecloth
	exercise 2-5
Wri	te the plural form of each of the followi	ing collective nouns.
1.	band
2.	choir
3.	chorus
4.	class
5.	committee
6.	family
7.	government
8.	orchestra
9.	team

Use are there and a plural noun in a question to ask if any exist and how many:

Are there any cars in your driveway?

How many cars are there?

How many houses are there on this street?

How many pages are there in this book?

Use there are followed by any number from two on up before a plural noun to tell how many of them exist:

There are two cars in the driveway.

There are ten houses on this street.

There are 208 pages in this book.

Use there are before the word no when it indicates zero. No is followed by a plural noun:

There are no cars in the driveway.

There are no houses on this street.

Not any can be used instead of no to indicate zero:

There are not any cars in the driveway. There are not any houses on this street. There aren't any cars in the driveway. There aren't any houses on this street.

Pairs

Some clothing items are usually in two parts, which are sometimes separate, such as two gloves, and sometimes connected, such as pants. The nouns are plural. One set of two parts is a pair. A pair of shoes, for example, is two shoes, one for the left foot and one for the right. A pair of pants is one item, with two legs.

Review the following examples of pairs:

For Men and Women Usually for Women earrings glasses sunglasses gloves pajamas pants jeans shorts sweatpants shoes boots flats high heels sandals slippers stockings socks tights

exercise 2-7

Quantities

To tell an approximate number of plural items there are, use:

some = more than one a few = three or four

a lot of/lots of/many = a large number of/plenty of/enough not many = a small number of too many = more than is good or necessary

I have some tickets for the ball game.

There are a few seats in the front row.

A lot of people are going to the game.

There are not many seats.

There are too many people here.

l.	What do you have some of? Begin each answer with I have
	What are there a lot of outside? Begin each answer with There are
•	What are there not many of in the place where you live? Begin each answer with There are

4.	What do you see a few of right now? Begin each answer with I see
5.	What do you have too many of? Begin each answer with I have

Words for Food

Review the following words that name things to eat or drink. These nouns can be either singular or plural.

apple nut avocado orange banana pea bean pear carrot potato cherry potato chip doughnut salad drink sandwich snack egg grape soda hamburger steak hot dog tomato meal vegetable

exercise 2-9

Write one of the following words or groups of words in each blank, depending on whether the nouns are singular or plural.

a	an	one	some	a lot of	a few	no	any	two

- 1. He eats ______ egg and _____ doughnut for breakfast.
- 2. I like to have _____ apple or ____ orange in the afternoon.
- 3. Would you like _____ peas and ____ carrots?
- 4. She wants _____ sandwich and ____ potato chips.
- 5. I want _____ banana.
- 6. We would like _____ hot dogs, please.

- 8. She is going to the store to buy _____ tomatoes.
- 9. She's going to buy _____ steaks for dinner.
- 10. I didn't order ______ salad; I ordered _____ vegetables instead.

Using Noncount Nouns

Many words for food are noncount nouns. Some examples are the words in the following list:

Liquids	Dry Items	Meat	Dairy Products	Vegetables	Other
beer coffee cream gravy juice milk sauce soup tea water	bread cereal flour rice sugar toast	bacon beef chicken fish meat pork	butter cheese ice cream yogurt	broccoli cauliflower corn eggplant lettuce spinach squash	cake candy fruit jam jelly pepper pie popcorn salt

Many personal care items are also named by noncount nouns. Review the words in the following list:

aftershave lotion lotion
bath gel perfume
conditioner shampoo
cream shaving cream
fingernail polish soap
fingernail polish remover toothpaste

Use is there any before a noncount noun to ask if it exists:

Is there any rice in the cupboard? Is there any fruit in the refrigerator? Is there any soap in the bathroom?

Use how much followed by a noncount noun plus is there to ask the amount of it that exists:

How much ice cream is there? How much cereal is there? How much water is there? How much shampoo is there?

To tell the approximate amount of a noncount noun, use:

some=more than nothinga lot of=a large amount ofa little=a small amount ofnot much=a very small amount ofno/not any=nothing

There is some ice cream in the freezer.

There is a lot of fruit in the bowl.

There is a little cereal in the box.

There is not much shampoo.

There is no water./There isn't any water.

exercise 2-10

Use words from the noncount noun food list to answer the following questions.

1.	What is there a lot of in your refrigerator?
2.	Is there any candy in the cupboard?
3.	How much bread is there in the kitchen?
4.	Is there any popcorn in the cupboard?
5.	Is there too much of anything?

Use words from the noncount noun personal care items list to answer the following questions.

1. Is there any shampoo in your bathroom?

2-11

- 2. How much toothpaste is there?
- 3. What else is there?

To tell the exact amount of a noncount noun, use the singular or plural of the container of the item, the weight of the item, or the number of pieces or servings of it there are:

a can of soup a cup of coffee a glass of milk a bowl of cereal one spoonful of sugar one serving of spinach a piece of meat a tube of toothpaste three cans of soup two cups of coffee four glasses of milk a few bowls of cereal two spoonfuls of sugar three servings of spinach two pieces of meat two tubes of toothpaste

Words for Groups of Individual Items

He has a little money.

We got some information.

There is too much trash.

Other noncount nouns include words that represent groups of individual items. The individual items can be counted, but the word that represents the entire group cannot.

Furniture	Mail	Jewelry	Money	Information	Trash
bed chair desk dresser nightstand sofa table	advertisement bill letter postcard penny quarter ten twenty	bracelet earrings necklace pin	dime dollar bill five nickel	brochure notice pamphlet report	boxes packaging used items
For a Desk	For Cooking	Hardware	Medicine	Makeup	Entertainment

There is some furniture. You have a little mail. She has a lot of jewelry.		There are three chairs. You have two letters and a postcard. She has five necklaces, four bracelets, and twenty pairs of earrings.

He has a ten, a five, and three quarters.

There are boxes, old clothes, broken toys, worn-out tires, and broken dishes.

We got a brochure and two reports.

Answer each question.

1.	How much furniture do you have?
2.	What mail do you usually receive?
3.	What jewelry do you like to wear?
4.	How much money do you have in your pocket?
5.	What do you throw in the trash every day?

There are many things that cannot be counted. Like all noncount nouns, words for these things do not have plural forms. Review the words in the following list:

advice	help	poverty
air	homework	rain
beauty	housework	sickness
cold	intelligence	snow
courage	kindness	strength
darkness	light	water
health	news	wealth
heat	pollution	work

There is some housework to do.

There is a lot of news.

There is a little snow in the mountains.

There is not much heat in the house.

There is too much rain.

Do not use a, an, one, many, or any number with a noncount noun.

Using Articles with Singular, Plural, and Noncount Nouns

3. How much rain is there here in the summer? Begin your answer with There is . . .

The indefinite articles a and an are used before singular nouns that refer to any one of that person, place, or thing:

A clock is an instrument that marks time.

A watch is a clock that you wear on your wrist.

The previous sentences do not name a specific clock or watch; they refer to clocks and watches in general.

The articles a and an can refer to a specific singular noun to tell or ask someone about it for the first time:

I have a clock that is 150 years old.

Her boyfriend gave her a watch for her birthday.

There are no indefinite articles for plural and noncount nouns. To refer to people, places, or things in general, no word (\emptyset) is placed before the plural or noncount noun:

- Ø Clocks are instruments that mark time.
- Ø Mail includes anything that can be delivered by the post office.

No word (\emptyset) can refer to a plural or noncount noun to tell or ask someone about it for the first time:

Her boyfriend brings her Ø flowers every week. You got Ø mail this morning.

exercise 2-18

Fill in each blank with one of the following.

a an Ø

1. I am going to buy _____ orange.

2. They sell ____ oranges at the market on the corner.

3. Do you have ____ fruit?

4. Yes, we have ____ oranges and ____ apples.

5. Where do they sell ____ furniture in this city?

6. I'm looking for ____ table, ___ chairs, and ____ desk.

7. We need ____ information.

8. Can you give me ____ advice?

9. Do you have ____ kitchen equipment?

10. I want to buy ____ pot and ____ frying pan.

The definite article the is used before a singular noun, a plural noun, or a noncount noun to refer to a specific person, place, or thing.

The is used when the speaker and the listener both know which particular item is being referred to:

She showed me the watch her boyfriend gave her for her birthday.

The flowers he sent her were beautiful.

The furniture I bought was cheap.

Using Demonstrative Pronouns with Singular, Plural, and Noncount Nouns

There are four demonstrative pronouns: this, that, these, and those. This and these refer to nouns that are close enough to touch, things that are here.

Use this before a singular or noncount noun; use these before a plural noun:

This watch is the one I like.

These watches are very expensive.

This jewelry is very expensive.

That and those refer to nouns that are not close enough to touch, things that are there:

Do you like that dress in the store window?

Those dresses in front are very pretty.

That information about the prices is not correct.

Unit 3

Proper Nouns

A proper noun is the name that has been given to a person, a group of people, a place, or a thing. The names of religions and of languages are proper nouns. A proper noun is written with a capital letter at the beginning of each word. Here are some examples of proper nouns:

Betty Garden Club

John Clark Planning Committee

Capitol Hill February
Oak Street French
Monday Ireland

The Daily Mirror

Longer names and titles of books often have prepositions and articles, which are not written with capital letters, except when those words appear at the beginning:

The University of the East A Boy's Life in the Country

Change lowercase letters to capital letters where necessary.

- 1. She's reading a book called a guide to good manners.
- 2. We have to go to the springfield library on monday.
- 3. They are from italy, and they don't speak spanish.

Unit 4

Possessive Nouns and Pronouns

Possessive Nouns

A possessive noun indicates that the person, place, or thing named is the owner or holder of the noun that follows. It answers the question Whose . . . ? A possessive noun can be used before a singular noun, a plural noun, or a noncount noun.

It can be a proper noun followed by -'s:

Emily's dress Bill's shoes. Susan's ice cream

A possessive noun can be a common noun followed by -'s:

the teacher's desk the man's glasses a friend's mail

When two or more people own or have something, the plural noun is followed by an apostrophe if it ends in -s:

the teachers' party the students' books my friends' health

If the plural form does not end in -s, it is followed by -'s:

the men's cars the children's class the people's money

exercise 4-1

Write a phrase with a possessive noun for each item listed.

Verbs Used as Nouns

The present participle form of a verb can be used as a noun to be the subject of a sentence, or the object of a verb or a preposition. Present participles are called gerunds when they are used as nouns. (See page 96 for the formation of present participles.)

Gerund as Subject
 Walking is good exercise.
 Eating well is important.
 Working here is interesting.
 Playing with other children makes her happy.
 Gerund as Object
 We enjoy walking.
 I like eating at this restaurant.
 She is tired of working here.

PART II

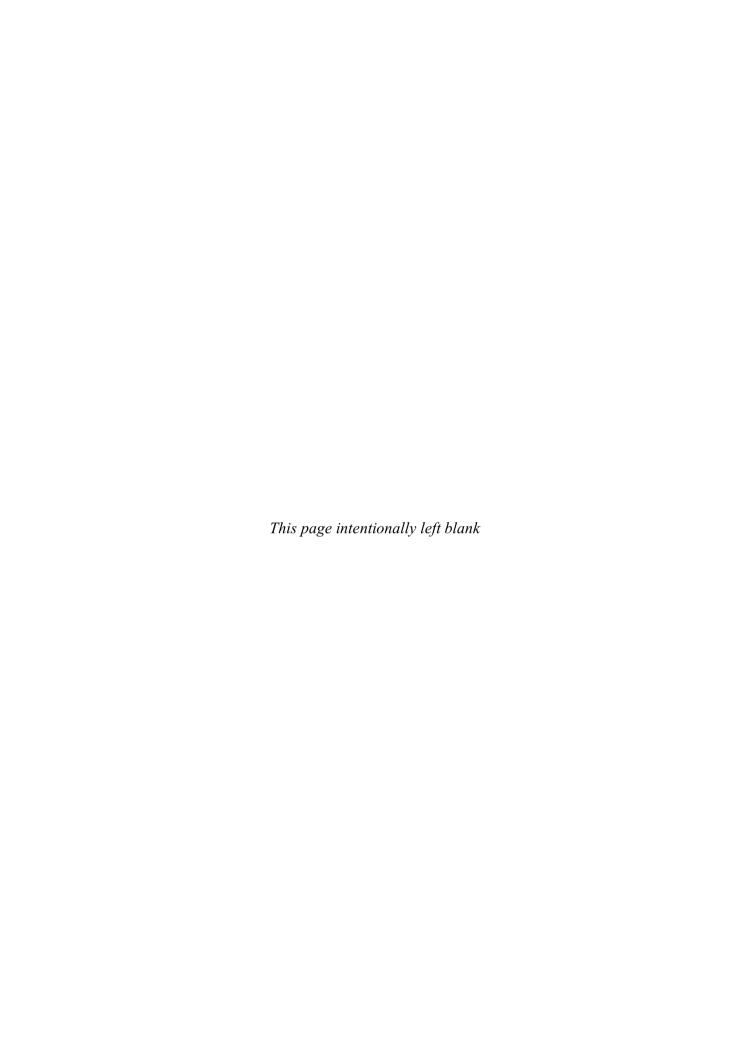

ADJECTIVES

Adjectives are the words that allow us to be artists. Instead of painting the colors or making the music, we can use adjectives—red, beautiful, lively, loud—to describe the nouns in our lives.

Adjectives can be simple to use, as they don't change to fit the nouns they describe. For example, the same adjective can describe New York (a big city), New York and Los Angeles (big cities), or a noncount noun such as "furniture" (big furniture).

Adjectives can also be used to compare nouns with each other. To do this, certain adjectives have comparative and superlative forms that are made by adding -er or -est at the end, for example, "He is taller than his brother" or "He is the tallest boy in the class." Others are preceded by more or most to make these comparisons, for example, "She is more patient than the other teacher" or "She is the most patient teacher at the school."

When you know the patterns for using adjectives, it is easy to add new ones to your vocabulary. Enjoy adjectives and be creative!

Unit 8

Making Descriptions

Adjectives describe nouns and are usually placed before the nouns they describe:

This is good food.

He's a nice man.

She has an expensive car.

I got cheap tickets.

A form of the verb be can separate an adjective from the noun (or pronoun) it describes:

The food is good.

That man is nice.

Her car is expensive.

The tickets were cheap.

Two adjectives can be connected by the word and:

Her car is big and expensive.

The man is smart and nice.

A comma is used to separate adjectives when there are more than two:

Her car is big, comfortable, and expensive.

The man is smart, nice, and handsome.

Adjectives That Describe People

Adjectives describe a person's physical and personal characteristics. They answer the questions, "What are you like?" "What is she like?" "What is he like?" and "What are they like?" Review the words in the following list:

Unit 10

Verbs and Nouns Used as Adjectives

Verbs Used as Adjectives

The present participle and the past participle of some verbs can be used as adjectives. The present participle is the form that ends in -ing (see also page 42):

surprise It is surprising news.

excite You have an exciting job.

bore That is a boring program.

Review the present participles in the following list:

boring gratifying
captivating inspiring
caring interesting confusing satisfying
daring surprising
exciting terrifying fascinating threatening

frustrating

These adjectives describe a person or thing that "performs the action of the verb."

A caring mother = a mother who cares for her children.

A boring movie = a movie that bores the audience.

A threatening storm = a storm that threatens to begin soon.

exercise 10-1

Select the word that best completes each sentence:

l. We left the mo	ovie before it ended l	oecause it was caring	captivating	boring	exciting
2. The math test	was too hard for me	; I thought the word pr	oblems were very frustrating	exciting	boring	satisfying
6. I don't like ho	orror movies because	they are	· interesting	terrifying	inspiring	gratifying
. Helping other	people is extremely threatening	confusing	gratifying	terrifying
. That novel ha	s a lot of different sto	ories happening at the s	same time; it is very caring	terrifying	surprising	confusing
. The circus tra	peze artist performe	d a lot of dangerous stu	nts. He was a young man.
daring	confusing	frustrating	threatening

The past participle of the verb can also be used as an adjective. This is the verb form that often ends in -ed or -en. There are also quite a few irregular past participles that have different endings. (See page 144.) Following are examples of past participles that are commonly used as adjectives:

She is excited about her trip.

The toy is broken.

We were surprised to hear the news.

The child is lost.

PART III

VERBS

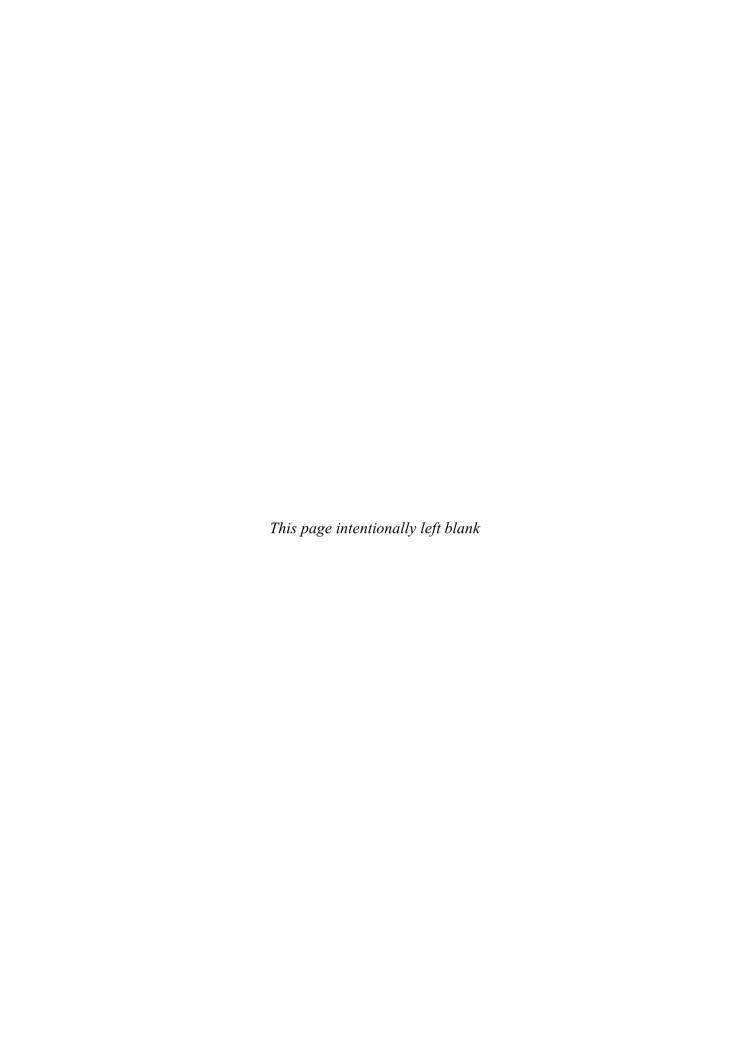

Verbs are the wonderful words that give life to language.

The most common verb, be, for example, allows us to tell who or what exists in the world, and also when, where, how, and why it exists. In addition, just by changing the form of the verb, we can tell about what existed in the past and what will exist in the future, plus what we wish existed or what we would do if something existed. The verb be is used in a different manner from all other English verbs—it has different forms and different patterns.

All other verbs follow a second set of patterns, which enable us to tell facts about people—where and how they live, what they have, how they look and feel, what they like, what they think, and what they do; they also enable us to tell how things work and what happens in the world. And again, with a change in form, we can put all this information in the past or the future, or we can make wishes and conjectures.

Verbs also enable us to ask and answer questions, give commands and suggestions, accept or refuse, and relate and communicate.

Yes, there are a lot of irregular forms that have to be memorized, but they are worth the effort. Verbs are about life. Live well with verbs!

Unit 12

The Verb Be

The most common verb is be. It is used to identify or describe a person or thing, or to tell its origin, state, or location.

The Present Tense of Be

I am tall. We are at home. You are my friend. You (all) are gre

Using the Present Progressive Tense

The present progressive tense is used to tell that an activity is being performed now. The following expressions are used with the present progressive tense to mean now:

at present currently this week this month this year

The present progressive tense is formed by conjugating be and adding the present participle. The present participle is the basic verb + the suffix -ing:

dream dreaming laugh laughing

• Verbs that end in -e drop the e and add -ing:

dance dancing exercise exercising

• Verbs that end in -ie change the ie to y and add -ing:

tie tying lie lying

• Verbs that end in a vowel + consonant double the consonant and add -ing:

sit stop stopping

I am sitting down. We are watching TV.

You are listening to good music. You (all) are making noise. He is sleeping. They are talking on the phone.

She is writing a letter.

The present progressive tense is also used to describe an activity that is planned for the near future. The following expressions are used with the present progressive tense to tell the time of a planned activity:

at 4:00 (later) this week on Monday tomorrow in August next month soon tonight

later next week this afternoon (later) this month next year this evening

I am leaving tomorrow. We are watching TV tonight.

You are working this afternoon. You (all) are taking the test next week. He is going home at 6:00. They are playing the game in October. She is calling him soon.

PART IV

ADVERBS

Adverbs are the mechanical tools in our vocabulary. They include words that help us give facts about the states or actions described by verbs. Adverbs enable us to tell where, when, or how often something exists or takes place. For example, "The party is here." "The party is tonight." "They have a party every night." Adverbs enable us to tell in what direction something moves, as in "She is driving toward the city." They enable us to tell how an activity is done, for example, "She drives very carefully."

Adverbs are important for understanding and giving information about events and activities. Be accurate with adverbs!

Adverbs of Manner

Certain adverbs indicate how an action is performed.

Forming Adverbs from Adjectives

Many adverbs of manner are formed by adding -ly to an adjective:

glad gladly honest honestly
nice nicely

Adverbs that end in -y change the y to i and then add -ly:

easy easily
happy happily
noisy noisily

Adverbs that end in -ic add -ally:

enthusiastic enthusiastically tragic tragically

Adverbs that end in -ble drop the e and add -y:

comfortable comfortably humble humbly

Certain adverbs are the same as the corresponding adjective:

early early fast fast hard hard late late

The adverb for good is well.

Comparing Adverbs

Adverbs of manner can be compared by using more + adverb + than:

He argues more aggressively than the other lawyer. She writes more creatively than the other students.

15-5

Write a sentence for each of the following comparisons using the cues given in parentheses.

- 1. John drives at fifty-five miles per hour. Mary drives at sixty-five miles per hour. How does John drive? (slowly)
- 2. Susan makes only a few mistakes. Janet makes a lot of mistakes. How does Susan work? (carefully)
- 3. David makes a lot of noise when he plays. Charles doesn't make noise. How does Charles play? (quietly)

Certain adverbs have different forms:

badly worse than early earlier than fast faster than hard harder than late later than well better than

A negative comparison is made by using $not + \mathbf{verb} + as + \mathbf{adverb} + as$:

We don't play as skillfully as the other team.

She doesn't play the piano as well as you.

He doesn't run as fast as his brother.

Unit 16

Adverbs That Modify

Adverbs That Modify Verbs

Certain adverbs tell how intensely an action is performed:

hardly/scarcely = almost not at all a little/very little = some well enough = adequately

really/well = very well

The adverbs hardly, scarcely, and really are placed before the verb they modify:

My car hardly runs.

She scarcely visits us.

The machine really helps.

avapaiga	16_1
exercise	10-1

Fill in each blank with the appropriate adverb of intensity.

1. Their new sports car is powerful. It ______ moves.

2. His grandmother is in a wheelchair because she ______ walks.

3. Now that he has studied a year in Mexico, he ______ understands Spanish.

4. Her new boyfriend is so quiet. He ______ said a word at the party.

The adverbs a little, very little, well enough, and well are placed after the verb they modify:

She sings a little.

He plays well enough.

They dance well.

16-2

Fill in each blank with the appropriate adverb of intensity.
